

Complaints Handling Procedure

Garner & Hancock Solicitors is authorised and regulated by the Solicitors Regulation Authority (SRA). We are committed to providing high-quality legal advice and client care.

If you are unhappy with any aspect of our service, including the level of our fees, we would like to know so that we can address your concerns. We value feedback and aim to resolve any concerns promptly, fairly and free of charge.

If you have any concerns about our service, we encourage you to raise them with the person handling your matter in the first instance, as many issues can often be resolved quickly and informally.

Who Can Make a Complaint

Our complaints procedure is available to our clients and, where appropriate, to other individuals or organisations entitled to complain about our services. The Legal Ombudsman can provide further information about who is eligible to make a complaint.

Our Complaints Procedure

We aim to resolve complaints promptly, fairly and free of charge. Our procedure normally involves the following stages.

Step 1 – Making a Complaint

Please tell us about your complaint and provide full details of the problem.

Step 2 – Acknowledgement

We will acknowledge receipt of your complaint within five working days of receiving it. In our acknowledgement we will confirm our understanding of your complaint and explain the next steps.

Step 3 – Investigation

Our Complaints Handling Representative will investigate your complaint. This will involve reviewing the matter file and speaking to the member of staff concerned.

During the investigation we may contact you if we require further information or clarification regarding your concerns.

We aim to complete this investigation within ten working days of acknowledging your complaint. If we are unable to complete our investigation within this timeframe, we will inform you and provide an explanation together with a revised timescale.

Once the investigation has been completed, we may invite you to discuss the issues you have raised in order to try to resolve the complaint. This may take place by meeting, video conference or telephone and your preference will be taken into account where possible.

This discussion will normally take place within ten working days of the investigation being completed.

Following the meeting or discussion, we will write to you within five working days to confirm our discussion and any agreed resolution.

If you do not wish to have a meeting or discussion, we will instead send you a detailed written response, including any proposed solution, within fifteen working days of completing the investigation.

Step 4 – Review of the Complaint

If you are not satisfied with our response, you may ask us to review the decision.

A Partner, Director or senior member of staff who has not previously been involved in the matter will review the complaint.

We will write to you within ten working days of receiving your request for a review, confirming the firm's final position in relation to the complaint and explaining the reasons for our decision.

Legal Ombudsman

If we are unable to resolve your complaint within eight weeks, or if you remain dissatisfied with our final response, you may refer the matter to the Legal Ombudsman, which investigates complaints about legal services.

A complaint to the Legal Ombudsman must usually be made:

- within six months of receiving our final written response; and
- within one year of the act or omission you are complaining about, or from when you should reasonably have known that there were grounds for complaint.

Solicitors Regulation Authority (SRA)

The Solicitors Regulation Authority regulates solicitors in England and Wales.

If you believe a solicitor may have acted dishonestly, or you have concerns about their conduct or integrity, you may report the matter to the SRA.

The SRA does not deal with complaints about poor service. Complaints about service should instead be referred to the Legal Ombudsman.
